

AF Academy cadets battle UNM Lobos

BY CADET MARK
BURLEY

Air Force Academy

On Feb. 28 an epic rugby event will occur at Lobo Stadium.

On this fateful day, the undefeated and reigning Men's Division I Collegiate National Champion Zoomie Rugby Football Club from the U.S. Air Force Academy will be meeting the University of New Mexico Lobos.

Earlier this year a tough grudge match between these teams occurred at the Academy with Air Force securing a tightly contested victory—but the Lobos want a rematch on their own turf.

This is the only loss this season for the Lobos, who are currently trail only the Academy in the Western Region.

Tensions are high and it is guaranteed to be an intense game full of big hits and big scores.

And in case you are unfamiliar—rugby is the sport where they make hits like football but wear no pads!

Come out to the UNM Football Stadium to support the Zoomies at 3 p.m., Feb. 28.

The game is being recorded

The Air Force Academy takes on UNM Feb. 28 at the UNM Football Stadium.

Courtesy photo

for later television broadcast—be there to help root on Air Force as they continue to fight their way to another National Championship!

Tickets are available for

$5 at the gate or can be obtained at the reduced Zoomie price by contacting Air Force

Rugby Coach Capt. Dan Marine, at daniel.marine@usafa.af.mil.